Peeling - Feeling - Healing
Dictionary

Hello...my name is Onionhead and I really care
About emotions that I want to share.

Even though I'm an onion, I think I am wise
The reason is I never wear a disguise.

I let people know what I honestly feel
I figure it is the only way to heal.

I know it's not easy to always know each emotion
Especially when those around us are in a commotion.
But I will try to make it easy, in order to understand
How to know feelings better, so let me lend a hand.

Life is sometimes hard, but that's not always bad
Because we grow from our feelings, even mad or sad.

We can find a way to solve every problem and hurt
By learning how to handle feelings and staying alert.

These poems guide us to know ourselves better
And get all these emotions down pat to the letter.

Love is surely the most wonderful solution
It's the feeling that makes for a great resolution.

Let's be kind, honest and the smartest we can be
Believing we are incredible, important for all to see.

We need to feel comfortable sharing our feelings
Let us say them confidently in all our dealings.

I already know that you are an incredible being
I am just here to point out what you might not be seeing.

I'm an onion that helps you peel it and feel it
Because that's the only way you can surely heal it.

With love,
Onionhead
